Disclosure of Relevant Financial Relationships & Discussion of Off-Label or Investigational Products

ASAPS Disclosure Policy.

It is the policy of the American Society for Aesthetic Plastic Surgery to assure that its educational mission, and Continuing Medical Education activities in particular, shall not be influenced by special interests of individuals associated with these programs. Having an interest or affiliation with a corporate entity may not necessarily influence the faculty, but the relationship will undergo scrutiny by the CME Committee or its delegated peer review committee, which will resolve conflicts before the educational activity occurs.

All individuals involved in program development, faculty and others who are in positions to influence the educational content, shall make full disclosure of all commercial relationships, including those of spouse/partner occurring within the past 12 months. The disclosures shall include the name of the commercial entity and the nature of the relationship. This includes financial interests, arrangements, or affiliations with companies or other organizations, whose products or services are discussed in or related to health care.

Faculty and all others who are in positions to influence educational content are required to report receiving anything of value from a commercial interest as defined by ACCME: Any entity producing marketing, re-selling, or distributing health care goods or services, used on, or consumed by, patients. The ACCME does not consider providers of clinical service directly to patients to be commercial interests. For more information, visit www.accme.org "Anything of value" refers to a variety of items, including, but not limited to, an equity position, vested interest, royalties, serving as a consultant, research grant funding, honoraria for education services or to any other relationship.

Please read and initial each section below:

- ___ I. I attest that I will meet ASAPS Content Validation Policy which requires educational activities clinical content to support safe and effective patient care.
1. I will not promote recommendations, treatments or manners of practicing medicine that are known to have risks or dangers that outweigh the benefits, or known to be ineffective in the treatment of patients.
 2. All the recommendations involving clinical medicine are based on evidence that is supported by citations in peer-reviewed professional literature.
 3. All scientific research referred to, reported, or used in support of justification of a patient care recommendation conforms to the generally accepted standards of experimental design, data collection and analysis.
 4. When discussing an off-labeled use or an investigational use of a commercial product, I will disclose that the product is not labeled for the use under discussion or that the product is still investigational, in accordance with the ASAPS Standards for Commercial Support.

- ___ II. Fair and unbiased planning and presentation will be accomplished, in part, through the following methods:
1. Use of generic names. If the CME educational material or content includes trade names, where available trade names from several companies should be used, not just trade names of single products.
 2. Unless this is a product which has no comparable alternatives, the educational content should list all the like products, including pros and cons.
 3. Reference sources, ideally peer-reviewed journals, should be used for any clinical recommendations.

I attest that my answers to Section I and II are correct and that I will abide by all rules, standards, and guidelines of the ASAPS with regards to *AMA PRA Category 1 Credit*TM.

Glossary of Terms

.Commercial Interest

The ACCME defines a "commercial interest" as any entity producing, marketing, re-selling, or distributing health care goods or services consumed by, or used on, patients.

Financial relationships

Financial relationships are those relationships in which the individual benefits by receiving a salary, royalty, intellectual property rights, consulting fee, honoraria, ownership interest (e.g., stocks, stock options or other ownership interest, excluding diversified mutual funds), or other financial benefit. Financial benefits are usually associated with roles such as employment, management position, independent contractor (including contracted research), consulting, speaking and teaching, membership on advisory committees or review panels, board membership, and other activities from which remuneration is received, or expected. ACCME considers relationships of the person involved in the CME activity to include financial relationships of a spouse or partner.

Relevant financial relationships

ACCME focuses on financial relationships with commercial interests in the 12-month period preceding the time that the individual is being asked to assume a role controlling content of the CME activity. ACCME has not set a minimal dollar amount for relationships to be significant. Inherent in any amount is the incentive to maintain or increase the value of the relationship. The ACCME defines "relevant financial relationships" as financial relationships in any amount occurring within the past 12 months that create a conflict of interest.

Conflict of Interest

Circumstances create a conflict of interest when an individual has an opportunity to affect CME content about products or services of a commercial interest with which he/she has a financial relationship
